

Review:

Lesson 1: Building with Wisdom

Lesson 2: Humble Acceptance

Lesson 3: Prodigal Building

Lesson 4: Wisdom from Above

Building a Team

2 Chronicles 2:1-12

God created us for community. So, we can expect that anything He calls us to build with Him will be in _____ with His people. For many of us, that is the hardest part.

Discussion 1. For you, what is the hardest part about building something in collaboration with others? Why is building with a team sometimes difficult?

As Christ followers, we will always have friends, family and coworkers who are not believers and with whom we are nonetheless called to build. With them, everything we do and say becomes a _____ about our God.

Discussion 2. As you ponder your life in the eyes of your nonbelieving friends, family and coworkers, are you more convicted about your words or about your actions? What is one next step you can take in this regard?

Building with wisdom means knowing the resources and abilities we bring to the project and then being willing to _____ from others to meet the needs we cannot meet. If I cannot ask for help, then I am not yet ready to build.

Discussion 3. Think about something you are helping to build right now. What do you bring to the project? What do you need others to bring to the project? How are you at asking for help?

When we are building something with God, success is not just measured in the God-sized results, but in the _____ of those who experience God in the building process. We should choose our team with that in mind.

Discussion 4. Can you think of something you did with God (a mission trip, a ministry, etc.) that changed you as much or more than it changed the ones you were serving?

Discussion 5. How does this lesson cause you to pray? How does it prepare your heart for worship?