

Finding Truth in Brokenness

Daniel 4:1-37

When _____, we don't use our life circumstances to interpret what He has said; we should use what He has said to help us better understand our life circumstances.

Discussion 1. For you, what is the difference between using our life experiences to interpret God's Word versus using God's Word to interpret our life experiences?

The brokenness of this world has a way of reminding us of the folly of worshipping the wrong things and how our refusal to acknowledge God renders us _____ with no direction.

Discussion 2. How have our current world circumstances caused you to reconsider any "idols" or objects of worship or other priorities in your life?

Long after we stop trusting in all the world's sources of truth (governments, media, each other, etc.), everything God has ever spoken will just continue to happen. _____ is the only truth.

Discussion 3. Slowly but surely, all the world's sources of truth end up disappointing us. In this current season, how are you staying connected to God's truth? What disciplines help you with that?

The mission of God's people in our current brokenness is not merely to figure out how to stay connected. It is to prepare ourselves to be _____ and _____ to the world in the coming versions of this brokenness.

Discussion 4. As you consider the continued spread of the Coronavirus, what kinds of needs are you anticipating your community having? How is God preparing you to help meet those needs?

Discussion 5. How does this lesson cause you to pray? How does it prepare your heart for worship?
