Proof 2 Peter 3:1-7

If we are looking for evidence that God keeps His promises, i.e., that He is faithful and true, then there is no better place to look than in the _____. They are packed full of thousands of years of promises fulfilled.

Discussion 1. Are there particular promises in scripture which have been fulfilled in your life and which provide you with assurance about your faith? When you are having doubts related to your faith, are there some “go-to” scripture passages that are helpful for you?

Any faith that denies Jesus’ promised return to judge the living and the dead is not a faith that will sustain me in this broken and chaotic world. There is no following Christ without _____ to Him.

Discussion 2. Why is Jesus as judge such an important piece of a faith that can sustain us in this broken world? What makes that specific element so important if we are to be able to stand firm on our faith?

The history of nature itself bears testimony to the power of God’s Word, which spoke it all _____ and then destroyed it by flood and started it again. It bears witness to the God who reigns over everything.

Discussion 3. How is it that one intelligent person can look at all of nature and see the hand of God at work and another intelligent person looks at the same nature and concludes it was all a coincidental happenstance? What would/could explain such radically different conclusions from the exact same set of “data”?

For the Christ follower, His return is all about redemption and reconciliation of a broken world. For others, that day will be about _____ and _____.

Discussion 4. Explain how judgment and destruction are not opposed to Jesus’ reconciliation of the world but rather are part of that reconciliation?
