If we say we believe Jesus is coming back to judge the living and the dead, then our lives should reflect that knowledge in terms of _____ and _____.

Discussion 2. If Jesus comes back tomorrow, what kinds of things do you hope He will find you doing? What kinds of things do you hope He will find the church doing?

To begin my study of scripture with what I want it to say is spiritually dangerous to me. To then _____ that way is spiritually dangerous to everyone involved.

Discussion 3. What can you do in your Bible study to avoid bringing your own agenda to it? How do you check your own heart in that regard? Are there particular disciplines that help you with that?

Waiting expectantly for Jesus' return is anything but passive; it means diligently and intentionally growing in grace and walking in the Spirit in a way that help us _____ more each day.

Discussion 4. How might you measure for yourself whether or not you are "growing in the grace and knowledge of Jesus"? What spiritual disciplines do you practice that help you grow like that? What spiritual disciplines do you want to begin practicing to help with that?
